Portfolio Overview

Portfolio Recap

- Our third quarter strategy encompassed the following:
  - We maintained a sharp focus on portfolio safety with robust due diligence on credit and securitized products given the backdrop of a fragile economic environment.
  - The portfolio's duration was targeted to match its benchmark as few catalysts were present to push yields meaningfully higher over the near term.
  - U.S. Treasury allocation was reduced further as financial markets stabilized and other sectors presented better investment opportunities to enhance portfolio earnings. Increased allocations to other investment-grade sectors boosted performance for the second consecutive quarter.
  - We continued to increase allocation to the federal agency sector as yield spreads on new issue bonds remained elevated from a historical perspective, especially for maturities of three years and longer. Value in callable structures was limited as spreads narrowed noticeably on most structures.
  - In the supranational sector, heavy issuance was met with increased global demand, driving yield spreads narrower. In some cases, supranational spreads compressed to levels below those on comparable-maturity federal agencies, making them unattractive.
  - Investment-grade corporate notes were, once again, a significant benefit for portfolio performance during the quarter. Supply was robust as corporations continued to take advantage of the low borrowing rate environment by issuing new bonds at a rapid pace. However, investor demand was strong and pressured spreads lower. While narrower spreads benefited third quarter performance, they also reduced future earnings potential. As a result, we modestly decreased allocations in the sector with a focus on reducing exposure to industries that face significant headwinds and locking in gains on issuers with very tight spreads.
  - AAA-rated ABS offered fair value, so we maintained the portfolio's allocation. After pausing new purchases in the second quarter, we reevaluated underlying risks in the sector by conducting robust stress testing under a wide range of adverse scenarios, which affirmed the ability of most ABS to weather the current economic downturn. In the third quarter, we once again became selective buyers of new issues, focusing on those issues with increased credit enhancements.
  - The taxable municipal sector remained active as entities benefited from the low borrowing rate environment. Finding value and diversification, PFM increased its participation in new issue municipal debt during the quarter as we viewed the sector to be quite attractive, even compared to some high-quality corporate issuers.

Investment Strategy Outlook

- The U.S. and global economic recoveries have been stronger than expected. In the U.S., however, the pace of recovery appears to be slowing. Getting back to pre-pandemic growth and employment levels will likely be challenging.
- Considering the economic uncertainties that remain, we plan on maintaining the portfolio's neutral duration position relative to the benchmark.
- Our outlook for major investment-grade sectors includes the following:
  - Agencies – The continued reach for yield and safety should pressure agency spreads back to pre-COVID levels. Given this backdrop, we plan to continue to add to allocations at current yield spreads, which remain historically wide. Value is concentrated in maturities of three years and longer.
  - Agency MBS – Given the high level of prepayments and potential for heightened market volatility through the rest of the year, the sector is likely to trail Treasuries as long as the 10-year Treasury remains below 1%. At present, there are more than 19 million high-quality mortgages that are at risk for refinancing. Picking amongst structures and the coupon stack is vital to performance. We are cautious in our choice of sector and very selective, avoiding coupons on the cusp of potential refinancing.
  - Corporates – Corporate liquidity is strong, and debt servicing costs are low, but we have concerns about the slowing of the economic recovery and the longer-term effects of increased leverage on corporate balance sheets. Another surge in COVID-19 cases, a stock market sell-off, rising geopolitical tensions, and the presidential election could be catalysts for a potential spike in volatility. Further, a global slowdown, trade conflicts, and a weaker dollar may continue to pressure industrial profits. On the other hand, rating agency downgrades have slowed materially, which is a positive, and the Fed's unprecedented support should help anchor spreads. As a result, corporates will remain a core, long-term holding in the portfolio and we will continue to exercise caution.
  - Taxable Municipals – The taxable municipal sector remains attractive even though valuations have increased. We remain focused on the largest issuers while exercising caution on many subsectors given the fiscal impact from COVID-19. Purchases in the sector will likely be made in new issues, which are expected to remain elevated.
  - Asset-Backed Securities (ABS) – The ABS sector outperformed Treasuries during September as spreads continued to tighten due to limited supply amid continuing economic recovery. Our expectation is for delinquency rates and net losses to increase as deferral programs start to phase out and the consumer feels the pinch from reduced federal unemployment benefits. However, we believe these factors will remain well within an acceptable range based upon PFM's stress tests. Value is now on par with the corporate sector. We will continue to be selective when evaluating new issues.
